

Screen 1

The user is presented with a screen describing the quiz. The page contains a button that, when clicked, will start the game itself.

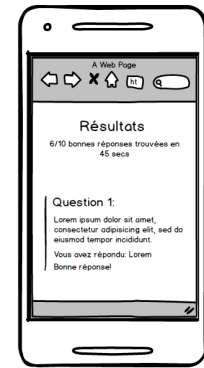

Screen 2

When the "Jouer!" button is clicked, the timer starts and the first question is displayed.

When the user clicks on one of the answers, the result is stored to be displayed later on.

The first question leaves its place to the second one all the way till the end of the quiz.

When reaching the end, the results screen is displayed.

Screen 3

The app tells the user how many correct answers he's found and how long the game ran.

The timer stops.

Displayed next is a recap of all the questions. Their statement, the answer the user selected and, in case the answer was incorrect, the correct answer.
